~What is the Soul and its Song?~

The soul is your core consciousness, it is the ground of your being. It has two components. One is called Jiva, that is the personalized soul that recycles through time on a cosmic journey and it is Karma, memory and desire. The conditioned soul is part of an unconditioned soul called Atman, which is part of the universal soul called Brahman. The purpose of the conditioned soul is to create the evolutionary journey to unity consciousness. We do this through being, love, and creative expressions and through service. The soul is also the co-influence in the meaning--context relationship and archetypal stories. The soul is the source of all our lives. It projects as the mind, as the body and the universe of our experiences.

~Deepak Chopra

The soul is the spark of Divine consciousness, the blueprint of the Master Artist encased in vibration. And that vibration emits a frequency which is of this Divine consciousness blueprint. That frequency is known as a soul signature. Much like we have a signature here on earth when we sign our name, the soul has a signature which is the frequency of this vibration. The Soul is formless, changeless, birthless, deathless, immortal, infinite. Free from beginning, free from ending. Just as the Master Artist is. And from each soul, there is a song. The Song of Universal Love.

This song is known by many names ~ Soul Song, the song of the Soul, the music of the spheres, loves vision, intuition, the intuitive heart to say a few. To know more about the intuitive heart, please listen to this interview here

<https://www.dropbox.com/s/9v123k5k2vikc22/33-09-06.mp3> Your heart is the voice of your Soul. When you sing your Soul Song, the vibrational frequency is that of the this soul signature being reverberated throughout the universe in union with love itself, Source itself.

The ultimate experience of the Soul, its purpose is to realise itself while in the body, to be the full embodiment, experience, and expression of all that it really is, so that Source is realised through the soul. Each event and experience occurs for the soul remembering that you are here to REST within ~ Remember, Embrace, and Soulfully Treasure ~ called to your soul, by your soul so that you can create and experience who you really are as GOD, the Gift Of Divinity in each moment. This is why the Master is free from being shakened in even the face of the worst experiences.

The Master Artist, this Source which is Love itself is Love, is Soul. And as Soul it sees as Love/Soul/Source/the Master Artist in human physical body temple form would see, feels as Love would feel, hears what Love would hear, speaks what Love would speak, sings what Love would speak. In other words to mean that Love sees Love or rather the Master Artist sees you as the most beautiful thing in the cosmos, as this Divine expression of the Love itself is. It can see no other. Equally thus, Source/Love/Soul also feels only that which is this same Love, and hears only words of this Love and nothing else, speaks and sings that of only messages of Love. This is free from meaning that other things such as what we call as negativity or the body or hurt or pain is free from existing. No. Rather, Love sees, knows, experiences, ALL of those things too. And at the same moment rather than choosing to delve down the rabbit hole of those things other than Love/Soul, it simply chooses to BE Love, to BE Soul, observing and noticing those other things and at moments maybe even stating in observation the what ISness that appears to be before it yes, and yet being free from engaging within them fully, for Love/Soul is free from being fooled by the appearances/illusions of that which appears to be other than Love/Soul/Source. This Love/Soul/Source never changes, it is free from going back and forth in extremes. Extremes are the body's way of attempting to rule the Soul. The Soul utilises the body as a temple for which the Soul experiences, expresses, sings its song.

On the path, we are to BE fully our Soul, BE fully God/Goddess and be free from going back and forth so much is the key. It takes alot to do that sometimes when the body wants to take over and be in control. Buddha went through this alot too in going from one extreme to another for many years until he came to balance, to centre. That centre is BEing Love, BEing Soul, living from that way of BEing. Buddha got it, shifted into it, so too can we. It requires remembering that who we are is free from being this back and forthness. Who we are at the centre of our being is as was said at the beginning of the book which is this 'The soul is the spark of Divine consciousness, the blueprint of the Master Artist encased in vibration. And that vibration emits a frequency which is of this Divine consciousness blueprint. That frequency is known as a soul signature. Much like we have a signature here on earth when we sign our name, the soul has a signature which is the frequency of this vibration. The Soul is formless, changeless, birthless, deathless, immortal, infinite. Free from beginning, free from ending. Just as the Master Artist is. And from each soul, there is a song. The Song of Universal Love.' as you continue to remember this, then you BE as the Buddha. You BE as the Soul, you BE as this Love. For this is who you really are.

Divine Love/Unconditional Love is the language of the Soul, of the heart. The heart is the overlay and seat of the Soul. The heart is the entrance of the Soul. For it is through the heart, we Love. We BE Love, we BE the Love of the Soul. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is loving yourself (your soul, your Self with a capital S as in the higher Self or Soul you are) and loving another free from conditions. Free from judgment. Free from blame. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is always Love in the present moment, in the now, in the OM, the One Moment, for this is all there is. Being present with whatever is in this moment and loving it and BEing Love. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is therefore timeless. Much like if you have ever seen two people when they first see one another and totally connect heart to heart soul to soul in that sense of utter awe and wonder of just seeing/meeting one another for the first time and it is as if no one else is around them, just the two of them. That is Divine Love/Unconditional Love in motion, in that sense of timelessness. In that present moment you are just in awe, in Love. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is formless, changeless, birthless, deathless, immortal, infinite. It just simply is. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is also in that present moment loving your Self/Soul and loving another regardless of seas or seasons. Regardless of outer circumstance, situations, behaviours, non behaviours. For you still Love always, in all ways. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is free from denying any part of your Self/Soul either for in such love you love every part of you. Your crasiness, your idiosyncrasies, your unawakenedness, your projections, your illusions/delusions, your magnificence, your brilliance, your beauty inside and out, the way you look in your body just as it is and everything in between. Divine Love/Unconditional Love is loving ALL of you, every part of you and loving another ALL of the other. For you see all those unawakened places, vibrations, resonances, and also the awakened brilliance of the Light of Love you are, the WHOLE of you, and sees ALL of it as WHOLE, Holy, Wholly.

Divine Love/Unconditional Love also sees all those crasinesses, idiosyncrasies, unawakenedness, projections, illusions/delusions as being free from being who you really are. For as Soul who you are is simply whole, perfect, complete and beautiful simply as you are right here right now, even with those things. You may be free from liking the behaviour occurring in the body, and yet you still love the person, the Soul, seeing beyond the body behaviour and into the Soul knowing this is who you and they really are. At the same moment that it embraces what is in the moment of the behaviour even if it is free from being liked, you still both be free from liking the behaviour yet embrace it at the same moment. For anything you are free from loving you will repeat again and again until you come into Love with it and within it. Thus, you love, embrace, and bless ALL of you, even what we consider as earthly bad. Because in the eyes of Divine Love/Unconditional Love/Source, ALL of it and all of you is beautiful. And in those moments when you are choosing to be such crasinesses, idiosyncrasies, unawakenedness, projections, illusions/delusions it is the opportunity to see it for what it is, embrace it, love it, and bless, and realise that you did the best you could (or the other did the best that they could) with the level of consciousness you had/they had in that moment and could do no different and then you choose better. To be this Divine Love/Unconditional Love is who we are, and loving in this way is What Love Would Do Now and is what true Love is. Be Love Now, for this is who you are.
